The Cabling Group & Connectix Cabling Systems™

The Cabling Group is a leading provider of structured cabling system installation and managed services throughout the UK, deploying the fastest media across networks. Providing a cross platform of services scaling traditional data throughput to modern VOIP and multi-media applications. The Cabling Group has become a market leader of service critical structured cabling systems, securing some of the UK's most large and prestigious projects for businesses in finance, education, data centre, government and construction industries.

The Cabling Group has held the status of CCS™ Certified Registered Installer since 2014 as recognition to their excellence in delivery of quality installation workmanship and CCS™ client service delivery

Nova, Victoria

During winter 2016, Egon Zehnder relocated their UK head office location to Nova South, moving its entire UK headquarters to the 14th and 15th floors across 24,000sq ft. Nova South is a landmark site opposite Victoria station, providing grade A office space, two acres of new public realm, eighteen food and beverage units and 170 high quality apartments.

The Egon Zehnder fit-out contract was delivered by ISG plc, with The Cabling Group providing the structured cabling installation. CCS™ was consultant specified.

The Cabling Group and CCS™ worked very closely during the project with the manufacturer attending site for first and second fix sign offs. Paul Mathews, Channel Manager of Connectix Cabling Systems explained "Having worked with The Cabling Group for numerous years, their installation engineers and project management is always professional and efficient. The Egon Zehnder project has been installed onsite in 3 months, well on time and budget and is a credible installation to The Cabling Group".
